

FP5 Galaxy Capelet
Designed by Laura Bryant & Gail Rhodes

One Size: approx 16" long & 70" around at hem

Materials:

3 Galaxy
size 15 needles
1 large button
sewing thread and needle

Note about construction:

Capelet is worked with progressively larger stitches, made with additional wraps, that form the swing.

Note about joining Galaxy:

Join strands only in a dense area (not on a loop or extra wrap). To join invisibly, overlap the new end about 1" over the old so the strand is continuous and then sew with sewing thread through both layers, back and forth several times. Knit as if it were one strand.

Capelet: using the knit-on method, CO 6 sts, place marker; CO 12 sts, pm; CO 18 sts.

Preparation Row: (k 1 wrapping yarn around needle 3 times, drop 2 sts) 6 times; (k 1 wrapping yarn around needle twice, drop 1 st) 6 times, k 6.
18 sts remain.

Row 1: k 6, (k 6 wrapping yarn around needle twice and drop extra loops from needle), (k 6 wrapping yarn around needle 3 times and drop extra loops from needle).

Row 2: (k 6 wrapping yarn around needle 3 times and drop extra loops from needle), (k 6 wrapping yarn around needle twice and drop extra loops from needle), k 6.

Repeat these 2 rows until inner edge of arc is approx 29". Try on and work extra rows if desired (may require additional Galaxy).

In next Row 1, k 2, yo, k 2 tog (buttonhole made), work as est. Work 2 more rows as est. BO all sts, pulling sts very loose as you work to so edge does not pull up.
Sew button to right side.

Whip this delightful capelet up in an evening or two.

*A clever take-off on our flounced scarf from Vogue's Silver Anniversary issue,
the capelet is worked on more stitches for fewer rows to form
the perfect light cover-up, showcasing Galaxy to its best advantage.*

*Thanks to Gail Rhodes of Gail Knits in Las Vegas
for the great idea!*

Oh, so graceful and light-- this capelet is dazzling in its impact.

Gold kissed Brass, this page, is fit for the finest meeting of the round table, or a red-carpet night at the movies.

*Lipstick, cover page, is infused with high drama
through its bold coloring-- you will be sure not to be missed!*
